

The Institute of Public Affairs is pleased to invite you to a luncheon seminar

Using markets and private property to help the poor and improve the environment

Monday 13 August from 12.30pm to 2.00pm with Julian Morris

Julian Morris is the Executive Director of the London-based International Policy Network. He is a Visiting Professor at the University of Buckingham, and has written extensively on free markets, the environment and public health issues in the developing world. He is recently the author of Just Trade: The moral imperative of eliminating barriers to trade.

The lunch seminar will be held at the Institute of Public Affairs
Level 2
410 Collins St
Melbourne

Acceptances only: Andy Poon
at 03 9600 4744 or apoon@ipa.org.au